

www.ChristopherEverard.com

FEED YOUR BRAIN

The Newsletter of British Film Director & Author CHRIS EVERARD issue 001

Subscribe to this Newsletter at <http://www.EnigmaTV.com>

The White Dolphin of Tibet by CHRIS EVERARD

YOU WOULD THINK
Wouldn't you, that people like Richard Dawkins, who bills his personal website as an "oasis of reason" would look a bit deeper into the political climate of China, and realise that his published article about the extinction of the White Dolphin of Tibet is not merely an accident of nature, nor wholly due to the pollution of river habitats in China and Tibet - but the "extinction" of this creature which swam the rivers of the Himalayas for Twenty Million Years is actually an assassination. You see Mr Dawkins, "reason" is merely a process - by which mankind reaches judgement. A Reason in itself is a non physical noun which can only be trusted if the data which fuelled your reason is complete and accurate.

Also, Reason in itself is a pointless exercise if one never commits oneself to a final judgement. My judgement on the issue of the White Dolphin of Tibet is that we are dealing with nothing less than the MURDER of a species - a dolphin whose very appearance in the rivers of Tibet was seen as a blessing to those who witnessed it.

The systematic, cruel extermination of the white dolphin is just one part of a complex campaign of political, spiritual and ethnic cleansing perpetrated against not only the people of Tibet - but also it's most alluring and magical animal - the White Dolphin...

AN ARTICLE PROVING BEYOND ALL DOUBT THAT AN EVIL DESTRUCTIVE FORCE BROODS WITHIN THE CHINESE GOVERNMENT

Favorite Movie:

Altered States

Favorite Quote:

"I Am Perplexed" Aleister Crowley on his Death Bed.

Website:

www.ChristopherEverard.com

the enigma channel

COMING SOON
NEW SEASON
ALEISTER CROWLEY
MASTER of MAGICK

page 002

The ORINOCO DOLPHIN of the AMAZON: A close cousin to the White Dolphin of Tibet is the Freshwater Orinoco Dolphin of the Amazon - Whose Natural Habitat is Being Systematically Destroyed

Twenty Million Years of evolution has come to a sickening end.

I want you to picture for just one moment the lost serenity of the pastoral Buddhist communities which populated the high plains and valleys of the Himalayas - a land where the monasteries provided the medical clinics, libraries and centres of teaching for the quiet people in the country we know as Tibet.

Between the snow capped mountains, rivulets of melted ice form little streams and these in turn fill glass perfect lakes, reflected into which the highest mountains on the face of planet Earth stand gloriously against a deep purple-blue sky. Murmuring of monks in meditation and the bustle of nuns caring for the farm animals, fluffy temple dogs, and children punctuate the soothing blanket of sounds created by the wind rustling through giant rhododendron bushes. In the distance, breaking the surface of one of these magical high altitude lakes, the long white nose of a truly magical creature comes into view as it silently and effortlessly cavorts and swims in the pure snow-melted water.

This engaging scene was how some mornings were spent - a lucky lama - perhaps an apprentice at one of the hundreds of grand monasteries in Tibet - may be blessed with a tantalizing view of the world's most specially evolved and mystical mammal - the White Fresh Water Dolphin of the Himalayas.

The White Dolphin - a small, almost blind, but incredibly agile and serene water mammal - was one of the most sacred symbols of this quiet land.

Evolving over a period of 20,000,000 million years, the White Dolphin of Tibet has two cousin sub-species of similar appearance - one swimming in the holy waters of the Ganges river, and the other cruising the warm torrents of the Amazon.

If ever you wanted an example of a highly sensitive, super-intelligent animal, then you can look no further than the White Dolphin of Tibet. Using a form of biological radar - the White Dolphin located it's food and rummaged the sub-aqua undergrowth with it's elongated snout and ultra high frequency inbred sonar. So little is known about this marvelous mammal that there is almost nothing else I can tell you about it - apart from the fact that to view it in the flesh was known to fill your heart with joy.

I first saw the White Dolphin in a documentary twenty years ago broadcast by the British Channel 4 Television station. This small dolphin immediately captivated my attention as I saw a hapless and wonderful specimen being man-handled, terrorized and netted out of a Chinese river and unceremoniously dumped into a grey body bag.

In the 1950s, shortly after Tibet was illegally invaded by China, an accurate estimate provided by Chinese scholars put the White Dolphin population at 6,000. Then, starting in the 1980s, these marvelously rare creatures were rounded up by the Communist Chinese Government... and Tibet lost one of it's most alluring and fascinating mascots.

In 2006, a photo of a dead specimen - a beautiful silver-blue white dolphin surfaced on the internet, displayed in front of cameras with a group of chinese scholars huddled in the background - one of the women has a leering grin. For this, as the Chinese Government have indicated, is the LAST white dolphin to have lived... I subsequently had that photo stolen from my archives - it was stored on a portable drive stolen by a member of Aleister Crowley's OTO secret society. This year, 2009, I have spent several days searching the internet for the same photo and have not been able to find it. The website which was run by the Chinese Government program which "studied" the White Dolphin during 2006 has closed down. Nearly all references to this amazing mammal have been changed to read "The Chinese White Dolphin", or "The Yangtze River Dolphin" - clearly, the recent acquisitions of Chinese search engines by corporations such as Google has resulted in a kind of textual "cleansing" taking place - and the memory of the gracious White Dolphin of Tibet - known affectionately as the "Baiji" - is all but forgotten by the West.

The forced extinction of the white dolphin is the first time for fifty years that a large aquatic mammal has been erased from the species register. So, what did the many "green" and eco-friendly agencies do to protect the White Dolphin? What did the Worldwide Fund for Nature do? Good question...

The Worldwide Fund for Nature WWF, whose most high profile patron has famously been the Duke of Edinburgh - a German from the Schleswig-Holstein-Sonderburg-Glücksburg family, part of the Battenberg elite - a family who enjoy killing animals for pleasure - were totally unable to save the White Dolphin of Tibet.

The Duke's family is German - the Duke's sister married a prominent NAZI - and it is interesting that history has brought Nazis and Tibet together in the past...

Dressed in crisp jet black NAZI SS uniforms, Gruppenfurers and German mountaineers swarmed into Tibet sixty-five years ago, recruiting a group of black magicians - the Black Yogis - who were taken back to NAZI Germany so that they could train senior NAZIs in the art of Reincarnation - enabling the despotic, tyrannical, serial killing regime of Hitler and the American-Germanic elite families who funded the Third Reich to continue their evil atrocities in future lives. This is no conspiracy theory. The diaries of senior Nazis described soirées in Berlin where these Tibetan black magicians were guests of honour.

How interesting it is then, to ponder that a symbol associated with White Magic of the Himalayas is... The White Dolphin of Tibet.

How odd that internationally recognized institutions such as SEAWORLD and other aquariums who are successful at breeding dolphins were not recruited by the Duke's WWF to save the White Dolphin of Tibet. Whilst Pandas are regularly trafficked across the world as gifts from the Chinese Government, and a Panda is used as the emblem of the WWF, the White Dolphin - a mammal - just the same as the Panda - is relegated to the rubbish tip of evolution... Rounded up... and Exterminated.

You see, to understand why the White Dolphin of Tibet has been assassinated, one must look beneath the sheets of some very odd bedfellows. Back in the 1950s, the British government and the United States of America completely ignored the letters requesting assistance from the young Dalai Lama when the borders of Tibet, a peaceful theocracy, a country which had never aggressively attacked any neighboring country, was illegally occupied by communist Chinese forces. From the 1950s onwards, the United States of America has been unwilling to respect the rights of the Tibetan people. In fact, the last administration, headed by George W. Bush, who was, in part, remotely controlled by his father, proclaimed China as "America's Most Favoured Nation".

I find the decision to offer respect and accolades and state-funded lavish banquets to Communist Chinese officials quite utterly repulsive. All the world knows that Tibet has been purged of its actual traditions and its culture have been destroyed by China. And to see the Bush administration warmly shaking the hands of Chinese ministers, whilst at the same time refusing to give an Oval Office audience to the Dalai Lama - is one of the clearest indications that we are seeing two of the world's most evil geo-political cabals collaborate in the genocide of Tibetans. Tyrannical behaviour and genocide are of course part of the history of the Bush family - Prescott Bush - the grandpappy of GW Bush, through his ties with the Union Banking Corporation, actually assisted NAZIs in getting loans from American financiers and banks.

Conspiracy Theory? Oh dear, Mr Dawkins, you really should have read Fritz Thyssen's memoirs entitled I Paid Hitler. Fritz Thyssen is VERY good friends with NAZIs and the BUSH family. For 40 years, George W Bush has been a sworn Knight of Eulogia, a member of the super-elite Skull & Bones secret society. Inside the S&B there is an inner circle of members who act independently - a kind of secret society inside another secret society - this elite group of "Bonesmen" are called Cell D115. Some members of Cell D115 were working for Wall Street financiers in Manhattan, who, amazingly, gave vast loans to fund Hitler and Himmler's occult crusade in the Himalayas - with American dollars under their belt, the NAZIs scoured the Himalayas and studied the magical texts and doctrines of the vast occult libraries in Lhasa and other Tibetan townships. At this point, the leeching and strangulation of Tibetan culture began...

This was the start of a crusade to erase Tibet from the map - once the NAZIs had recruited their posse of black magicians and installed them in barracks in Berlin, the war suddenly came to a close, within a few years, the Chinese army flooded across Tibetan borders and forced the Dalai Lama to flee. Between the prying, insistent "racial investigations" of the NAZIs, and the Imperialist ambitions of the wicked communists, the Tibetan people have barely had time to catch their breath, as their people, their libraries, their religions, their cultures, their schools and even their most exotic animals are systematically eradicated from the surface of planet Earth.

It is against this turbulent and complex geo-political backdrop, that the little White Dolphin was targeted for extinction.

The White Dolphin was perhaps the most magical and unique emblem of Tibetan culture. An animal whose pure intelligence and wonderful appearance truly placed it in the realm which stands between the physical and spiritual worlds. According to Horace Dobbs, who wrote the book DANCE TO A DOLPHIN'S SONG, children suffering from terminal cancer and other serious disease can be miraculously healed just by swimming in the water next to a dolphin.

Now, in 2009, totally ignored by the mainstream media, the Communist Chinese Government have issued a statement which implies that the white dolphin of Tibet has become extinct. The last survey reported no specimens present in any of the fresh water rivers flowing from the East China seas to the mountainous regions bordering Tibet.

How was this mass genocide against the white dolphin orchestrated? How can you thoroughly kill off an entire species of an animal which was famed for it's elusive nature? Simple. Since the 1980s, the Chinese government have been dumping radio-active waste materials in Tibet. Known to leech into the fresh water table, radio-active trace elements can have a devastating effect on wildlife - especially an animal so attuned and sensitive to the fragile eco-systems of the mountain streams such as the white dolphin.

Here, perhaps we see the crowning glory - a black barbed crown of death - capping off sixty-five years of inhumane cruelty managed and orchestrated by America's Most Favoured Nation - Communist China. Tibet has lost one of it's most hauntingly fascinating creatures... Along with, of course, several Heads of State...

We all know the Dalai Lama. But what of the other leaders? Well, the senior heads of government in Tibet are also reincarnated and often take office at a young age. Just a few years ago, the Chinese government kidnapped the young Panchen Lama and paraded an imposter child in his place.

Approximately at the same time of the kidnapping of Tibet's second most important leader, the Chinese government shot in cold blood hundreds of students who staged an unarmed pacifist campaign for democracy in Tianamen Square. Only a handful of politicians worldwide spoke out against the heinous murder of unarmed students in Tianamen Square. Millions of people watched the news reports of the young man stopping a tank with sheer power of the will and a bandana. For the most part, the global media coverage of the massacre of children at Tianamen Square held up pretty well - the vast numbers of students machine gunned by Chinese troops took several months to leak out. The planned state visits of the Chinese prime minister to Buckingham Palace and Washington were not postponed nor cancelled.

In fact, from the Chinese government's point of view, the only real casualty of Tianamen Square was the Tourist Trade - after all, who wants to pose in front of a monumental plaza which ran with the blood of unarmed students fighting for democracy? From the early 1990s onwards, there has been a stepping up of Chinese control over Tibet - why? Because now that Tianamen Square has been tarnished with blood, Tibet is the next best tourist attraction in the region - and tourist dollars are really what fuels the invasion and occupation of Tibet - that, and, the cheap slave-labour provided by semi-enslaved tibetans who are forced to work for nothing in political prisoner camps.

It is no exaggeration to say that the Communist Chinese government have flooded the world's markets with products manufactured in Gulags - hard labour camps - which make - amongst other things - nylon USA flags for worldwide export. Many of the flags placed in porches after 9-11, were MADE IN CHINA...

Right now, the Media are brainwashing every viewer into believing that there is a "global recession". Nonsense. The recession is real - but it is far from global. Nearly every single product we purchase in any shop we choose is today manufactured in China. It is impossible to imagine a recession in a country which has an enormous unpaid prisoner workforce anyway.

The loss of the White Dolphin of Tibet is no ordinary story in the rampage of species assassination which has gone into overdrive since the end of the second world war.

So, how exactly, did the Chinese government destroy the entire population of White Dolphins? From the half dozen specimens captured by the Chinese government in 2006, the males and females were kept apart. The last specimen captured lived for just 17 days. I have found no evidence to suggest that a breeding programme was attempted. Rather, my research suggests that these creatures were famously difficult to locate and capture - and that by keeping the males and females separated in captivity, the Communist Chinese Government would effectively prevent this magical, spiritual, awe inspiring symbol of Tibetan culture from multiplying. The added danger of radio active waste being placed in what was once a pristine eco system powered by thin air photosynthesis and melted snow rivers was the last occultically inspired nail hammered into the coffin of the white dolphin of Tibet.

I joined the British Green Party twelve years ago and immediately contacted some of the senior managers. I told them immediately about the cabal of evil in the USA and the murderous atrocities being perpetrated in Tibet. I told them that the white dolphin was being disturbed in its fragile habitat by the dumping of radio active material. It all fell on deaf ears.

Ten years ago, I became a member of the EIA Environmental Investigation Agency. I soon realised that my letter explaining the continuing regime of slaughter and genocide in Tibet and the plight of the white fresh water dolphin had not had any effect whatsoever on EIA policy.

I then offered to donate sixty thousand pound's worth of professional broadcast video equipment to GREENPEACE. This offer did not go any further after just one phone call where someone in the Greenpeace London offices mentioned the lack of space - perhaps stopping my donation from ever being fully utilised.

And so, we come to the birth of THE ENIGMA CHANNEL. The global TV channel I formed with friends in 1997 to broadcast documentaries about subjects which the mainstream media refuse to cover in any serious detail. In THE ILLUMINATI Volume One and also in the sequel, THE ANTICHRIST CONSPIRACY, I show the evidence and eye witness testimonies which prove that the Communist Chinese government have consistently managed a campaign of genocide against the flora, fauna and peoples of Tibet.

If only the British Green Party, EIA, Greenpeace and Richard Dawkins had seen my films - then they would have learned some of the occult nuances and terrifying ordeals which the people and animals of Tibet are enduring in silence.

This is Reason. Reason for Revolution.

© Christopher Everard 2009 - <http://www.ChristopherEverard.com>

No part of this article may be used without the written permission of Christopher Everard - all rights reserved - © Christopher Everard 2008 & 2009. All official subscribers may reproduce articles written by Christopher Everard on their own websites and blog pages - as long as an active link to <http://www.EnigmaTV.com> is displayed in a prominent place on the website. Re-publishing and reversioning this article is strictly prohibited. You may request a republication license by emailing the author: Chris@EnigmaTV.com

