1 Welcome and Introduction

Dear Friend,

Welcome to the first of 2 parts of Metaphysical and Absolute Truth Explanations, which forms part of the Freedom Technology Email Seminar. In this and the next Absolute Truths lesson, we're going to guide you through the simple steps of leading a truly fulfilled life, starting with an explanation of how the teachings of the 5 major man-made or organized world religions have specifically been designed to lead us astray and confuse us.

Before we get into the meat of the Seminar, it's important to lay a few foundations. If you are currently fairly open-minded about religion, or follow no particular religion, you may wish to skip ahead to Chapter 2: How Religion Affects Our World View.

But if you currently hold extremely deep-rooted religious beliefs, or avidly follow a particular religion, no matter what it is, please take the time to read these introductory paragraphs.

Religion is a touchy subject – deeply personal and often fiercely defended. It's also the one area where many are more deeply enslaved than any other area.

So far we've covered 3 of the 5 Essential Pillars of Fulfilled Living. Our guess is that you've learned a few new things, but nothing that's been said so far was impossible to believe, given a little thoughtful analysis.

Oh how we wish the same was true for religion, the penultimate and possibly most important of the Essential Pillars of Fulfilled Living. (Next week we'll be covering Individual Sovereignty and True Freedom. We cannot progress to this level until we've covered Religion, and this is why Religion is this week's lesson).

For this Seminar, we must ask you simply to keep an open mind, since we are not attacking any specific religion, yours included. We've mentioned before that some illusions would seem obvious to you - hardly worth stating, whilst other illusions you would find almost unbearable to be parted from. Well, if you are religious, then this Seminar will be tough going for you.

It might help if you remember that for many Freedom Technology members reading this Seminar, the 'shocking truth' about religion will seem laughably obvious - hardly worth mentioning. At the same time you may get hot under the collar and want to challenge everything that's covered in this Seminar. Remember, all we're trying to do is break free from belief systems which might be illusions. Religion often falls into this category.

Unfortunately, we tend to say farewell to many Freedom Technology members after this Seminar, because they cannot accept that man-made religions, of which MOST religions are nowadays, are a farce designed purely to extract revenue from their followers. We hope you will be open-minded enough to hear us out on this critical pillar of Fulfilled Living. As we said in the introduction to this series of seminars: we have to tell you the blunt truth. Some people find the material you're about to read shocking or even offensive. In short, they do not like having their security blanket snatched away from them. But power, vitality and a fulfilled life are obtained only by waking up to the truth about yourself and the world.

Are you prepared to stick with us?

2 How Religion Affects Our World View

This, the Metaphysical aspect of the 5 Pillars, is the FOUNDATION of Freedom Technology. Here we establish ultimate reality and truth. Until we've achieved this, we do not have a basis for building a life which is truly fulfilling and free.

This implies a process, or following a chain (like the DNA strand). If this chain is correct and accurate, then a true foundation of life can be established.

What we are building through this Email Seminar is a way of life, a path that leads to enlightenment and fulfillment, heart-peace, satisfaction and joy. A life lived to the full, where you are truly alive and vibrant, becoming all you were meant to be, recognizing the powers within and exercising them fully, discovering the powers within you and exercising them fully, and discovering your true purpose in life.

To achieve the fulfilled life is no simple task.

Its accomplishment promises rewards thought by many to be completely unattainable. The cynic has come to doubt that life holds any more than fleeting glimpses of genuine happiness and fulfillment. The one who achieves a reasonable measure of that fulfillment knows that the rewards promised are as genuine as any can be.

Life exacts a toll for rewards.

There is no shortcut to success or happiness.

Violation of eternal principles invariably brings frustration and disappointment. When we determine to comply with eternal truth, fulfillment is the predictable result.

It is our aim and hope that you will be empowered to achieve a wider view of life than the average, leading to true happiness and a fulfilled life.

2.1 What is Your World View?

The problems man faces today (social, political, racial, ecological) are a direct result of human behavior.

Human behavior is a dynamic outworking of a world view.

If your world view, your life-philosophy, justifies pollution, you will pollute. If it justifies racism, you will be a racist. If it justifies murder, you will have no hesitation in murdering others. If your world view is molded and formed by others who do not have your best interests at heart, you will live an unfulfilled life.

Humanity's problems, behavior, world view and origins are intimately related.

Therefore, resolution of problems depends on a change to proper behavior which demands a change to a correct world view. The point we are trying to make is that the problems of today's (particularly Western) society cannot be solved without addressing humanity's world view.

As we've stated before, the vast majority have no understanding of a world view, and would be even less inclined to adapt their behavior to one that does not violate the Laws of Nature. So we stress again, that changing everyone's world view, or trying to get the sheep to understand, is an impossible task. It would be easier to move Mount Everest one foot to the left than change society's world view.

And this is why Freedom Technology is a unique group of individuals. We realize that our behavior needs to adapt to achieve a fulfilled life. But at the same time, we realize that we exist within a society which does not and cannot understand our approach to life.

So, no matter what those around us believe and try to impose on us, we understand that:

A correct world view affects our approach to life which in turn leads to true solutions and a fulfilled life.

To put this another way:

The behavior of each and every society depends on their world view, and the measure of how fulfilled each society is depends very much on their behavior. The two are inextricably linked.

2.2 What is My Society's World View?

The obvious question then is "How do I determine whether the society within which I live has a correct world view?"

The best way to determine any value judgment about the specific "view" held by any society would be to ascertain the results that world view leads to. Analyze these results and then arrive at a conclusion as to whether the specific view relates accurately to truth, which leads to a fulfilled life.

To be specific: Does the society in which I live empower me to live a truly fulfilled life by encouraging a form of behavior which does not violate the Unchanging Laws of Nature?

When asked like this, it would seem obvious to any thinking individual that the typical Western lifestyle and society must be doing something wrong, since few could argue that the society within which we live today offers any teachings or direction on Fulfilled Living.

To go back to our question: Does the society in which I live empower me to live a truly fulfilled life?

Without needing to know the specifics of your culture and your society, Freedom Technology's answer is a resounding NO. Between us we have lived in many different countries, on all seven continents, enjoying a variety of cultures. Not once have we ever come across a society which empowers its people to live a truly fulfilled life. Some come closer than others, but very few actively encourage fulfilled living.

And many of society's core beliefs have their birth in religion, hence today's discussion. Most modern-day religions are man-made and have warped the ideals of Absolute Truth, with the intention of keeping their society enslaved and entrapped. In short, society wants to do everything it can to prevent fulfilled living, and religion is one of the most effective weapons in the battle for control of your mind.

2.3 The Con of Religion

Let's dive straight in with another contentious statement:

Religions and cults are man-made inventions designed to allow an elitist 'priesthood' to con value out of those that follow them.

Right, we know that's upset a few people, so let's first clear up a few definitions.

2.3.1 Definitions

2.3.1.1 Spirituality

Spirituality, whether it is something gained through life experience, revelation (religious or otherwise) or self-discovery, is transcendental in nature (meaning beyond the realm and reach of the five senses).

It involves insight and a sense of connection within the self, to others, nature, the universe or a higher power.

2.3.1.2 Religion

Religion, in the sense used throughout this Seminar, is an organized set of beliefs and a way of understanding the universe and yourself as part of the universe.

Religion defines (some more strictly than others) how a person's beliefs are expressed and often acts as a guide in terms of how a person expresses his or her spirituality. It aims to provide guidance, perspective, community and support for the individual in his or her solitary practice. By its very definition, religion influences an individual's beliefs.

Throughout this seminar we will be discussing religion as defined as an organized set of beliefs. We are specifically excluding spirituality from this discussion.

Throughout this seminar, the point of reference will be Christianity in all of its many forms. This religion has been singled out purely because it is likely to be the one with which the reader is most familiar. This is the only reason.

However, the comments in this section apply to the vast majority of religions and cults, and any one could have been selected as a point of reference. It is not our intention to embark upon a long and tedious comparison of various religions, because to the Freedom Technology member they are all essentially the same; that is, systems designed by one group of people to extract life values from other people. They have little or nothing whatsoever to do with God, or whoever you choose to worship.

In this seminar, we have used the word 'church' to mean any building where any religious ceremonies take place. We have used the word 'God' to mean any Supreme Being, by whatever name you prefer to refer to him or her. We have used the word 'priest' to refer to any religious leader, from any denomination. These terms have purely been chosen for simplicity and ease of reference – no other reason.

So, what is 'religion', understood from the Freedom Technology point of view?

2.3.2 What is Religion?

A religion is a system invented by an elite priesthood who desire to extricate value from their followers.

The priests claim that their mandate comes from a dead, discarnate or supernatural being, and that they are the chosen channels for this power. Having gathered together a flock, the priests then proceed to con values out of the flock under false pretences. In the past, the values were money (in vast quantities) and power.

Although this is still true, more often the values today are respect, kudos, loyalty and power. The priests also enjoy a smug sense of 'doing good'.

The Freedom Technology Member sees all this for what it is, and quite simply refuses to play. You cannot be religious in the typical sense of the word, and still have power over your own life. The two are completely incompatible.

2.3.3 Religion and Sacrifice

Religion comes in many disguises, but all have a common thread. The message varies from cult to cult, but it is basically a message of sacrifice. Sacrifice your life's pleasures now, so that you might enjoy everlasting life, dwelling with the angels, sitting next to God for all eternity. The words and language might vary, but the message is basically the same.

Throughout history, serious crimes against the people have been committed using the illusion of religion. Millions upon millions of people have been forced to live drab, boring, unfulfilled and painful lives because they have been stifled by religious guilt and fear. It is still going on today. Religion is the single biggest force for evil at large in the world. It causes untold misery and anguish.

Like most of the best illusions, this insidious one exploits several basically good human emotions, e.g. the natural sense of wonder, awe and amazement which any thinking person cannot help but feel when confronted with the great, mysterious universe. Most thinking people have a deep (if uncultivated) sense of mystery, and cannot help but question their place in the cosmic scheme of things. It is to this pure and wonderful human emotion that the cancer of religion attaches itself. It then proceeds to weave a thick web of deceit, lies and illusion which destroys the victim's natural sense of wonder, and replaces it with misery, anguish and hypocrisy.

You cannot become a Freedom Technology Member (that is, a fully empowered person) and subscribe to any man-made religion. Why?

Because you cannot become a free and enlightened human being and subscribe to a complete fantasy!

If you are religious in any conventional sense, then it will hinder your personal growth until such time as you are strong enough to see through the illusion of religion. If you are religious, then you are extremely likely to dismiss this whole seminar anyway. However, you will be unable to cross the barrier to personal freedom for as long as you refuse to face up to reality and truth.

We know it's tough. Did you not find it very hard going when you discovered that Santa Claus wasn't real? That's part of the growing process! Few people would disagree that it would be a great handicap to an adult if he were to continue to believe in Santa Claus, the Tooth Fairy and the Easter Bunny. However, the blind following of a man-made religion is a far more dangerous and cancerous fairy-tale!

This is because most people who join religious groups do so because of feelings of Fear, Guilt and Insecurity, and almost never from a position of spontaneous joy of life and desire for knowledge or truth, even though people often delude themselves that they are coming from this position.

This does NOT mean that Freedom Technology Members are insensitive to the wonder and mystery of the universe. They are not. They realize that the wonders of the universe, and the mystery of creation are far greater than the teachings of any man-made religion.

We have deliberately avoided the catch-22 of describing our own religious background. This would be a lose-lose scenario! If we told you we were ex-Christians, then you can smile smugly and say: "Ah yes, they obviously had a bad experience, but they don't understand the TRUE message of the church!". On the other hand, if we tell you that we have never been in a church in our lives, and have zero interest in religion, then you can nod sagely and say: "Ah yes, they don't know what they are talking about due to their lack of experience. I will pray that one day they will discover the love of Christ!" Either way, you get a great chance to pigeon-hole us and dismiss the vital message contained in this seminar. You can then nod-off to sleep again, secure in the knowledge that our message is invalid!

Never forget that religion is an invention of man, not God. Religions are founded by men who claim that God spoke directly to them. They then ask the rest of us to believe it. Furthermore, never forget that religion is a prime illusion used to control the masses by those who seek power - and this means today, now.

2.3.4 Classes of Religious Con Artists

The religious con-artists are not all the same, of course. They seek different levels of power according to their vision. They can be divided into groups as follows (in order of the level of damage they cause to other people's happiness):

1. Evil megalomaniacs who deliberately and calculatingly stir up religious fever and hatred in the masses in order to get them to fight a 'holy war' on their behalf.
2. Power-hungry individuals who divert the masses from thinking about real issues by getting them to expend their energies in religious hatred of another sect. (E.g. Germany 1939, Klu Klux Klan, etc). In these cases, religious hatred is often indistinguishable from race hatred.
3. Clever politicians who exploit religious ill-feeling.
4. Wealthy religious institutions who wish to retain their power, wealth and influence.
5. Fairly wealthy and powerful individuals who, although not evil, wish to retain their power, wealth and influence. E.g. Popes, Bishops, Cardinals, etc.
6. People who are making a good living from religion and also enjoy the prestige which comes from being considered more spiritual than others. E.g. priests, ministers, vicars etc.
7. Well-meaning, but basically powerless, weak and confused religious zealots who seek to acquire a thimble-full of power by converting others.
8. The mass of mindless sheep who unquestioningly support the people in categories 1-7 above.

2.3.5 Scales of Justice

The Freedom Technology Member refuses to sacrifice his or her life-energies for such a wasteful and pointless cause as religion, recognizing that if one were to weigh the good against the bad effects of any religion over the last few thousand years, then the scales would come crashing heavily down on the bad side. It would be rather like a one thousand ton weight representing the evil of religion, and a pebble representing the good.

2.3.6 Religion Does not Promote Freedom

The whole concept of religion represents the exact opposite viewpoint of a Freedom Technology Member because:

1. Organized Religion is life-debilitating, depressive and looks towards death. The FT Member relishes life, excitement and joy. They know they will die someday, but live their life like a warrior until that moment.
2. Almost all the things which are supposed to bring joy, wonder and excitement to human beings are ruined by the poison of religious thought.

3. Religion demands that you sacrifice your life's values (money, time, effort) to other people (usually priests) under the disguise of sacrificing them to God.

Religion is, almost by definition, inharmonious due to its divisive nature. You are expected to join one particular group or sect (the only true sect, of course), which then automatically polarizes you against the rest of humanity. 'Us' and 'them'. The rest of humanity are labeled as wrong, evil, sinful, or just misguided, and can only be saved by being converted by you or your group.

Fear is probably the major weapon used by religious con-artists over the centuries. Religious fear is used to ruthlessly cajole the mass of believers into conforming. Fear of damnation, fear of 'going to hell', fear of judgment day, fear of disapproval by the church, fear of being found out for your sins, fear of the devil, fear of asking questions, fear of the answers, fear of facing your own true thoughts and feelings on a daily basis.

As a priest, what better method could you devise for controlling the masses than to pretend that you have a direct line to God, and that he had given you detailed instructions about how other people should behave? If they do not dance to your tune, then you can threaten them with everlasting damnation.

Freedom Technology Members are completely free from fear because they are never immobilized in the present moment. Instead, they live IN the present, enjoying each wonderful, spontaneous moment as it unfolds.

Deeply religious people are deeply, soundly asleep. They are not amenable to rational argument. They are not open to logic. They are not prepared to examine the possibility that they are wrong. This is because they are terrified of having their beliefs exposed as beliefs based on man-made rules and regulations.

They have a deep and powerful vested interest in believing their simple fairy tales. The pay-off is comfort and security. Instead of taking refuge in a fairy-tale, a Freedom Technology Member realizes there is no one who will make everything alright, and that things never WILL be alright. This belief empowers them with the knowledge that they have a finite time to live. The result is a happy and guilt-free life, unencumbered by the dead weight of religion.

Religion actively discourages awareness, critical debate or free thought.

Any questions which seem a little too searching are met with the response that you must 'have faith' (that is, blind unquestioning belief in something which cannot be proved, and appears to be complete nonsense).

There is even a school of religious thought which states that the more patently ridiculous a fantasy is (I'm sure you can think of many examples of this), then the more FAITH you are showing by believing it. The implication is, that the more faith you have (i.e. blind belief in a patent absurdity), then the better a believer you are!

2.3.7 Censorship

Until relatively recently, the flock were not permitted access to written materials concerning their own religion. After all, the con-artists would not like the sheep to actually start STUDYING their religion, or, God forbid, actually QUESTIONING the priesthood! The WHOLE POINT of being a priest is that you control the knowledge, and only dole it out in small handfuls according to your perception of how the sheep will react to this knowledge. The last thing you want is for the sheep to QUESTION you, or start THINKING for themselves! Why? Because the veils which the priests draw across the 'inner sanctum' are exceedingly thin! Too close an inspection might reveal that the altar is bare.

Side Note: If you'd like to see this process dramatized, watch the recent movie "Luther" with Ralph Fiennes – an excellent demonstration of how priests withhold the truth.

The priests used to be able to rely on the total ignorance and stupidity of the masses. Nowadays they have to rely solely on the latter! Remember that MOST people were totally illiterate and were incapable of reading the Bible. It is only recently that Catholics (for example) were permitted to read the Bible! Services were, and still are in many places, conducted in LATIN - a language completely unknown to the common people! Historically, the church has ruthlessly, repeatedly and deliberately lied to the mass of believers.

They have done this either to blatantly gain advantage for themselves (money, power etc.) or worse, in the belief that these lies were in the 'best interests' of the flock who were considered too vulgar and ignorant to be provided with more accurate information. They considered it best to keep the masses in ignorance.

Organized religion revels in misinformation, illogical thought and downright lies. The vast majority of sheep have ABSOLUTELY NO INTEREST in any aspect of their own religion. They rarely ask questions or enter into debate. Their knowledge of the facts concerning their own religion is virtually nil. In fact they know less about this subject than almost any other subject with which they have had a passing acquaintance! Of course, the reason they don't know is because THEY DON'T WANT TO KNOW. They realize, on some level, that their beliefs will not withstand the most cursory examination or questioning and so they adopt a 'head in the sand' attitude and stay that way until they die.

2.3.8 Do Religious Teachers Believe Their Teachings?

It's also a strange fact that many (if not most) priests do not believe more than a small percentage of the 'facts' which they trot-out for consumption by the sheep. They continue to support these fabrications for many reasons:

1. Habit. Even the most arrant nonsense, repeated often enough, will start to sound true. Joseph Goebbels, Stalin, Mao Tse Tung etc. all knew this well.
2. It's a living. All senior members of the church are making a very comfortable living out of being professional liars. Most of them have a job for life with no threat of redundancy regardless of ability. The con is that the priests are

- not up-front about their motives, even to themselves. They pretend that making a good living from religion is purely incidental, and that they are fundamentally interested in helping people. The FT Member knows that the ranks of the priesthood would rapidly become deserted if the salary were reduced to the level of Social Security, and all possessions were forbidden!
3. They fear the consequences of their own questions, and have been trained and conditioned for years to believe that inquisitive thoughts are the 'devil's work'.
 4. They think that the flock 'wouldn't really understand' anything more complex. It's best to repeat a fairy-tale to which their simple minds can relate.
 5. Power. Imagine the power of being a priest! The wonderful feeling of having the masses revere you and fear you. Having people come to you for advice, having them confide their innermost secret thoughts to you. Controlling the lives of the flock. Standing up and lecturing them. The con is that they are not up-front about enjoying this power. Instead they pretend to themselves that this aspect does not interest them and that their only motive is pure self-sacrifice.
 6. Superiority. The priest secretly believes that he is superior to the common herd, and closer to God than they. He fights against this thought, of course, knowing it is wicked and the devil's work - but still he thinks and believes it. He ENJOYS the masses looking up to him and holding him in great esteem, even awe. He feels a smug sense of goodness, and knows that he will be one of the first in line for a huge, personal thank you from God. He doesn't like to admit this to himself, of course, and struggles against such wicked, sinful pride, but nevertheless, he feels it. The con is that he pretends (even to himself) not to enjoy the elitist aspect of the job, but to be filled with humility, only performing God's bidding and striving to become the perfect servant of the Lord.

The FT Member sees through all of these things and uses them to their advantage. They do not waste life-energy by becoming involved with religion, neither do they seek to convert religious people to their way of thinking. Such a conversion process (if possible) would require an enormous amount of energy. This puts him or her, as one of the few awake people, in an extremely powerful position.

They are guilt-free in this, because the FT Member does not lull people to sleep by poisoning their minds with religious thought - they simply refuse to be lulled themselves. Neither is it their mission to wake people from their dreams. They are not on any kind of crusade to arouse the masses from their religious slumber.

2.3.9 Seeking The Truth

An interesting example of religious hypocrisy (of which there are countless thousands) is that the majority of believers would state that they were "seeking the truth"! This is self-deception on their part. They are doing the exact opposite. They would deeply resent the truth if it were presented to them. They would get angry and hot under the collar if the truth were told to them!

The religious masses almost never ask any questions at all about their chosen religion. They certainly do not seek logical answers to reasonable questions. In fact their minds are usually completely closed to new ideas or input. This is the very reason WHY they joined the group. They WANT to be controlled and spoon-fed a half-baked version of reality which they can swallow without question. This is comforting for them. The pay-off is security. The FT Member never seeks illusory comfort.

Religion offers a pardon for the consequences of your actions as long as you are a good compliant believer. The FT Member, in contrast, takes full responsibility for their every action, and does not seek external beings to take the weight from their shoulders.

2.3.10 Wealth

It is interesting to note that the average so-called Christian in the western world retains large reserves of wealth whilst those around him starve to death. An appeal to the sense of fairness offers the religious person absolution for their guilt at this situation. Thus, if they write a $50 check for (say) famine relief, they can feel really good and holy about it for weeks, and not worry too much about the $200,000 of total wealth they have retained for themselves.

Ask any Christian this direct question:

"You claim to be a Christian. One of Christ's central teachings is that you have to give up your riches to the poor, and follow him. Whilst I might accept that this doesn't mean that you have to walk around in rags and sleep in a ditch, I wonder how you reconcile your alleged Christian beliefs with the fact that your total wealth exceeds $200,000?"

We have NEVER met a Christian who has given up everything and followed Christ. Let me say that again. In a supposedly Christian country, we have never met one single person who has followed Christ's main teaching which was to give up all of your worldly goods, and follow him. Have YOU ever met such a person?

The best excuse we have heard: "Although I agree that my assets exceed $200,000, I do not really consider that I own them. I long ago gave them to Christ, and I am just waiting for him to tell me what he wants me to do with them all. Meanwhile I consider myself to be merely their guardian."

Hmmm...

Is the FT Member cold, unfeeling, careless of the starving millions? No. They feel as much as the next person - except that their feelings are genuine because they do not spring from a need for approval, or guilt, or worry, or fear. In fact it might be worth, at this point, stating the FT Member's feelings on a particular issue, e.g. the 'starving millions'. Their thoughts are likely to be as follows:

1. There are hundreds of thousands of 'causes' clamoring for their attention. Everything from wheelchairs for the disabled ping-pong team, to the Maori legal fighting fund. The list is almost endless. If they were to start naming these charities at top speed, it would take over FOUR MONTHS just to get through the list of names - by which time a hundred new ones will have

- been formed. Note we are saying nothing whatsoever about the worthiness of these charities.
2. Their time and funds are limited. If they gave one penny to each of them they would be bankrupt.
 3. It therefore follows that an FT Member must strictly limit any charitable giving - preferably to zero!
 4. They are NOT able to be manipulated by the latest media story, or the church making him feel guilty, or any of the con-artists using any of their weapons.
 5. They are totally guilt-free, and would not feel guilty even if they never gave a penny to any of them - which they rarely do.
 6. They recognize that most charities are limitless sinks of funds and effort. Almost regardless of how many billions are poured in, the problems remain. In fact aid VERY OFTEN causes far more problems than it solves. This is an unpleasant truth to those who seek to absolve their guilt by limited charity.
 7. Finally and vitally: if an FT Member decides that they will focus their considerable personal power on a (usually very local) charity, then they move into the task with tremendous power, and things really start to happen. We're not talking about a $50 conscience check.

However, an FT Member has a policy of NON-INTERFERENCE in the lives of others and that means that they rarely become involved in conventional charitable works. The reason is that one can rarely predict the consequences of a so-called good act, and good intentions are simply not enough of an excuse for wholesale interference.

2.3.11 Harmful Charity

Here is just one example of pointless charity - of which there are many thousands. You are probably aware of frequent stories of crop failure, or drought in countries around the world, usually Africa. People are facing starvation almost constantly.

The reason that they are starving is because they are struggling to survive on unworkable, worn-out land. A situation which will not improve, only deteriorate. Massive aid has been flown into these desert-like locations, at various points in time. Millions of gallons of drinking water are trucked in. Each operation is paid for by millions of little $50 conscience checks from nice, affluent, middle-class people. Of course, lives are saved in the short-term, but these aid centers act like magnets to hundreds of thousands of people living in outlying districts.

These people are not actually starving, but they are not having too good a time either. So these people from the outlying districts (not the starvation zone) see these aid centers as really great places for a free hand-out to ease their suffering. Unfortunately, this has the effect of displacing large numbers of people from their homes in outlying regions, and attracting them IN to an already hopelessly over-populated and worn-out region. This ensures that the death-rate multiplies horribly in successive years when the fuss dies down and the aid workers (and camera crews) leave for the next hot story.

This is an over-simplified example, but the basic message is beware meddling in things about which you know nothing. It is arrogant and dangerous. The motivation is simply one of salving your conscience and justifying the retention of the bulk of your wealth.

An FT Member does not give possessions or money away to help the poor. However, anyone of any sensitivity must feel something if they are awash with wealth whilst the rest of the world starves. The difference between the FT Member and the so-called religious person is that:

1. The FT Member is not out to save the world. They realize that it probably cannot be saved anyway. They also realize that so called good actions often only aggravate the problem. Their primary duty is to be happy, and this reflects on others around them. They also know that there is no end to the number of problems around the world. They are limitless.
2. The religious person does not question the long-term effects of his giving, because his main motivation is to absolve himself from the guilt-feelings caused by his massive retained wealth. So he gives $50 here and there to causes about which he knows little or nothing. He can then put his conscience to sleep for another few months. He neither asks for, nor expects accountability for the aid money. He is not really interested in how the money is spent. He merely wants to know that two points have been added to his 'good boy' total in heaven. He becomes extremely uncomfortable about news stories describing how aid money has been misspent, stolen or squandered. He refuses to listen to these stories. Instead he wants to hear simple little tales of blankets being given to grateful children, or he wants to see a 'news bite' of grinning natives gratefully unloading a few sacks of grain.

2.3.12 Approval

One of the many reasons people follow certain religions is because of approval – an extremely powerful method of influencing the masses.

If we feared disapproval, then we would not have included this particular seminar. It is still very much frowned upon to take such a strong stance against religion. People are very sensitive about their illusions, and they DO NOT like having them exposed.

If you are even a little bit religious, then we are sure you have felt some anger and resentment towards us whilst reading this seminar. Not very long ago, we would have been imprisoned, tortured and then murdered in the name of Christ for expressing these thoughts. In those days, the priests held the power of life and death, and they were not squeamish about using those powers.

We consider the comments we have made in this seminar to be fairly mild, just as we consider our comments concerning law and government to be restrained. Why? Because we live in an ultra-repressive society – and it's getting worse. The sheep, of course, believe that they are free! And live in a democracy where their 'vote' counts! And enjoy personal power!

If we had confined our comments to certain other religions (which shall remain nameless!), then we would have been targeted by fundamentalists, and murdered at the first opportunity! This is NOT a joke. If we had gone further with our comments concerning government, we would have been listed as dangerous subversives. Our telephone would have a continuous tap on it, mail would be intercepted, bank accounts monitored and possibly we would have been followed to see who we met with!

Many people seek approval through religion. Here are several types of approval:

1. Approval from God: - Most religious people believe in a God who is watching over their every move and smiling in approval at the good things they do, and frowning in disapproval at the naughty things they do. This simplistic view of life relates to childhood, when Mummy and Daddy did exactly this.
2. Approval from the priest: - If you doubt this, simply watch the congregation at the end of a church service. You will see a large group of sycophants swarming around the priest in the hope of getting a quick word of approval from him.
3. Approval from others: - Parading your religion. Effectively saying: "Look at me, I'm a really good Christian." Accidentally mentioning the $50 you sent off to Christian Aid last week. Wearing your various badges/poppies/flags which prove what a really caring and wonderful person you are.
4. Approval from your fellow believers: - Joining in the rituals, knowing the 'new' hymn tunes, going to church meetings, being on the committee, doing your bit etc. When you seek the approval of others, you give them power over you to give, or withhold that approval. If they withhold it, you are hurt. If they give it you are like a grateful little doggie, wagging its tail.

2.3.13 Spirituality

Religion has little or nothing to do with true spirituality. It is a man-made system which latches on to people's natural sense of awe, wonder and amazement, just as it exploits their fear of their own mortality and most people who operate the religious con are doing so because they receive a hidden pay-off (the con-artist always gets a pay-off). They are not, in the main, evil people, they are simply con-artists who seek to extract value from you under false pretences. Your pay-off for believing in their nonsense is an illusory comfort and sense of security. You can also feel smug, self-important, chosen and special.

Let us repeat once again, that it is natural to have a feeling of wonder and awe at the amazing mystery of the universe. It is also natural to speculate upon the origins and purpose of the universe, and in the microcosm, human existence. We hope that we have not failed in our task of explaining the vast chasm which lies between these natural and wonderful human feelings, and those who seek to prostitute these feelings for their own ends.

2.3.14 What About the Good in Religion?

Finally, we are often confronted with an argument which goes something like this: -

"I understand everything you have said, and yes, great evils have been committed in the name of religion, but great good has come too. Most major works of art and music are inspired by religion, and surely if people behave even a little better towards each other as a result of believing in, for the sake of argument, an illusion, then this has got to be good?"

The FT Member answers thus: -"It is highly likely that an equivalent number of works of art would have been produced without religion. To doubt this is to deny man's basic creativity. You have to imagine Bach, for example, kicking around his house, completely unable to compose because he has never heard of Jesus!

Also, one has to offset religious inspired art against the serious setback to science caused by centuries of religious persecution and suppression of thinking people. Also, please remember that most art which did not have a religious bias was ruthlessly suppressed by the church. Artists could only get paid for religious works. If they didn't turn out such works, they starved. Small wonder that so much art was inspired by religion - it was the only art allowed!

On the second point, we have to disagree. This is effectively the 'happy slave' argument which was current at about the time slavery was abolished. This argument basically stated that there was no point in giving the Negro freedom, or educating them, because they were happy in their ignorance. They didn't know any better, so why make them unhappy by telling them about the joys of a free life?

The FT Member rejects this argument outright and believes that human freedom is the ultimate goal. Freedom to BE whatever it is you decide to be. Obviously this cannot be achieved if you are a 'happy slave'. This does NOT mean that the FT Member is on a mission to free all slaves (i.e. to wake up the masses); they simply refuse to enslave anyone who comes into contact with him.

To extend this argument to religion, the FT Member believes that it is nice, but irrelevant if some good comes out of believing in a fairy tale. Ancient people believed that sacrificing their children would appease the gods and bring rain, good harvest, fertility, or whatever. No doubt some good came out of this in the form of comfort to the people, but few would argue that belief in such an illusion could be justified by this small amount of good. Some good ALWAYS results from every act, no matter how evil. This should not be used as a justification for committing evil acts. Hitler, for example, gave us motorways, space rockets and Dad's Army - but this is hardly compensation for the excesses of the third Reich!

3 Wrapping Up

This week's seminar has been contentious for many, and this is because of the deeply ingrained beliefs religion has been responsible for. Many of these beliefs enslave those who have blind faith in their religion. We hope this seminar has started a process of questioning in your mind.

There is still much to say on religion, but we will leave that for a later series.

For now, just before we end, here are the first three of the Immutable Laws of Metaphysical Truths.

3.1 The Laws of Metaphysical Truths

The Laws of Metaphysical Truths have as a foundation the following three principle laws:

1. The Universe and the mind of man were brought into existence out of nothing, by an Initiator outside of this world system.
2. At the Universal Level, there are Two Opposing Forces in existence, and these can be broadly defined as Positive and Negative. The positive force is naturally good (love), and the negative force is naturally evil (death). This Opposing Law of Forces is for our personal training in the Management of the Universe. (Don't panic! We'll explain this later.)
3. The Negative Force is temporary – with only the Positive Force eventually remaining, resulting in a dimension of Metaphysical Love.

These laws may sound completely foreign to you right now, but rest assured we'll be covering them in a future Seminar.

Next week, though, we'll be discussing the concept of Personal Sovereignty – a term which may or may not mean much to you.

Consider a scale or continuum: At one extreme is the "total slave"; at the other, the "complete Sovereign Individual."

The total slave is the property of a slave owner. Total slaves don't own "their" bodies, "their" time, "their" labor, nor anything else. Total slaves have no freedom of action; they must do what their masters dictate; they may not do what their masters forbid. They may not own any property whatsoever. Total slaves may be harmed, punished, or killed by their masters without restraint.

Complete Sovereign Individuals own their own lives, bodies, time, labor, and whatever other property they can practically command, control, and/or utilize. Theoretically, they have total freedom of action without restraint.

Side Note: A small percentage of readers are NOT shocked by anything they've read to date. If you're one of them, here's an explanation.

One of the advantages of the Internet is the fact that we can make this information available to large numbers of people at low distribution cost (as opposed to printing books and physically mailing manuals).

The disadvantage is that we know nothing about you. If we did we could dive right in at the appropriate depth and provide new information which WILL shock you. We must lay the groundwork and foundations first.

Please understand this, and bear with us as we bring other readers up to your level of understanding. By the time we've completed the basics of each of the 5 Essential Pillars of Fulfilled Living, we'll be able to move ahead into the really challenging and exciting material. We promised we wouldn't waste your time, and we intend standing by that promise.

Next week we'll discuss in detail what it means to be a Complete Sovereign Individual.

Until then, you may want to see our section on Additional Reading, in the next Chapter.

4 Further Religion Related Reading

4.1 The Christ Conspiracy

ISBN: 0932813747

Controversial and explosive, The Christ Conspiracy marshals an enormous amount of startling evidence that the religion of Christianity and Jesus Christ were created by members of various secret societies, mystery schools and religions in order to unify the Roman Empire under one state religion! This powerful book maintains that these groups drew upon a multitude of myths and rituals that already existed long before the Christian era and reworked them into the story the Christian religion presents today-known to most Westerners as the Bible. Author Acharya makes the case that there was no actual person named Jesus, but that several characters were rolled into one mythic being inspired by the deities Mithras, Heracles/Hercules, Dionysus and many others of the Roman Empire. She demonstrates that the story of Jesus, as portrayed in the Gospels, is nearly identical in detail to those of the earlier savior-gods Krishna and Horus, and concludes that Jesus was certainly neither original nor unique, nor was he the divine revelation. Rather, he represents the very ancient body of knowledge derived from celestial observation and natural forces. A book that will initiate heated debate and inner struggle, it is intelligently written and referenced. The only book of its kind, it is destined for controversy.

4.2 Suns of God

ISBN: 1931882312

Suns Of God: Krishna, Buddha And Christ Unveiled is the sequel to the archaeologist, historian, mythologist and linguist Acharya S.'s controversial expose "The Christ Conspiracy", which walks the reader through a revealing and sobering exploration of the origin and meaning of the world's religions and most popular deities. Contesting that the remarkably similar stories of Christ, Krishna and Buddha - each portrayed as a redeemer who surpasses challenges, teaches morality and performs miracles - has its roots in a global phenomenon that has permeated cultures since ages before the Christian era. Explaining the god-like humans not as "historical" personages but as anthropomorphizations of the focus of "mysteries" steeped in an ancient tradition predating civilization, Suns Of God dares to hypothesize concerning the forces that shape entire cultures, and therefore history itself. A compelling alternative and iconoclastic perspective that breaks away from traditional theology to contemplate an alternative view of humankind's religious and spiritual development.

The Real Truth About the Sabbath

Look at ANY calendar and you can see which day is the Sabbath – the 7th or LAST day of the week. For their own reasons certain groups have changed it in contradiction to the 10 Big C's. They even claim it is because Jesus rose on the first day when the Scriptures say He did not! They even have to say, to "fit" their "system", that He was in the tomb for 2 nights and 1 day (died Fri pm, rose Sun am?), when He said that His ONLY sign would be that of Jonah: 3 days and 3 nights dead! If we can be wrong on so simple a matter, how do we know that the rest of what we "believe" is also not "fairy tales" told to keep us in "control"? What would happen if we discovered the Real Truth about what Jesus came to do? See what the Scriptures actually say!

The Real Truth About Creation and Evolution

Absolutely BASIC to know about our "origins" and how everything came into being. This impacts your whole view of life. Determines your "god" and your life "system". Expose "evolution" as a fraud, a lie, the greatest "con" ever perpetrated! And WHY! (not only Scriptures).

Here's a puzzle: God chooses Sovereignly, absolutely and according to His own inscrutable will. He does as He pleases. Yes? Now, according to common 'wisdom', those who don't believe will be cast into 'hell' and be in torment forever, for doing something they were not responsible for! Inconsistent with a "loving" God? What IS the message of Christmas? Why did God come to the earth? What was His purpose? For whom did Christ die? Did He die to save ALL people or only a few? If only a few, WHICH few? Are YOU among them? How can you BE one of them? What is the REWARD actually about? Will it be WORTH it all? All these and many other puzzling questions answered.

Perhaps they are "proofs" of what He came to teach. What DID He teach? What did Paul teach that the Real Gospel WAS about?

The Real Truth About Who is in Control

Can any person choose to either believe or not? Are we robots? DO we have a "free" will? Surprising answer from the Scriptures!

The Real Truth About who will be Saved

Is it ONLY 'Christians' who "believe" in THIS life? This is what each "religious system" would like "their" followers to believe: "their" own particular "version". An eye-opener and part of the Real Gospel.
